mas G. Lawler, of Rockford, Ill., en Commander-in-Chief—Other Officers Elected—General Orders No. 1.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 14.—Breaking all previous records, in beginning and ending its business within two days, the Twenty-eighth national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republie adjourned sine die last night.

A year from next Monday the boys in blue, crossing Mason and Dixon's the following general order No. 1 last line for the first time in the history of the order, will fraternize with their opponents of the 'sixties, and thus make visible demonstration of the oftrepeated assertion that there is no longer a north or a south, but one country, free and undivided. And if but a tithe of the pledges and promises made by the visiting Kentuckians redeemed, the encampment of '95 will never be forgotten, either by the Union or confederate veterans who are fortunate enough to be among the

The encampment transacted its business with electric speed. When the adjutant general. noon recess was taken all the national THE WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS.

After one of the most heated contests in the history of the order Col. Thomas G. Lawler, of Rockford, Ill., was elected commander-in-chief.defeat-Walker, of Indianapolis, by the narrow

The other officers elected by the encampment were: Senior Vice-Commander-Maj. A. P. Burchfield, of Pittsburgh.

Junior Vice-Commander-Charles H. Shute, of New Orleans. Surgeon-General-O. W. Weeks, of Marion, O. Chaplain-in-Chief-Rev. T. H. Hagerty, of St. Louis.

Representative to Council of Administration-Charles W. Gerwig. The new chaplain-in-chief is a member of the famous Ransom post, of St.

Louis. The election of officers occupied the entire morning session save ten minutes, which were given up to a delegation from the Women's Relief corps and the ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic who brought fraternal greet-

A council of administration, composed of thirty-five members, was also

Equal dispatch was manifested in the afternoon, so much so that Gen. Dan Sickles was moved to remark, as he steadied himself on his crutches in front of the footlights:

You have laid more business on the a ble in a few minutes than congress has in the last two months." Nearly half an hour was occupied in reading the reports of the committee on resolutions, which dealt with more than a score of subjects.

One resolution called the attention of state departments and posts to the character of certain school books used in some of the public schools of the country and cited a report of the department of Pennsylvania setting forth that many text books used in school are works of Southern sympathizers and contain erroneous misstatements relating to the war. This was adopted, and also a resolution requesting departments and posts to financially as-sist poor soldiers' orphans desirous of securing a high school education.

Hearty applause greeted the resolution directing the incoming commander-in-chief to endeavor to secure the reinstatement of such comrades as may have been unjustly discharged from government service, and also to protect such veterans as yet remain in office. As a rider to this resolution, the following was also carried amid vociferous shouts: "That the Grand Army of the Republic, in Twenty-eight national encampment assembled, respectfully request the president of the United States to issue an executive order to the heads of the several departments of the government, and through them to subordinates having the power of employment for the retention of such persons in service who were veterans in the war and give them preference."

It is stated that these resolutions created an animated debate in the committee, and the motion to table them was adopted by a majority of only one

A resolution expressing sympathy to the family of the late Comte de Paris was unanimously adopted by a rising vote, and a letter of sympathy was also ordered sent to Andrew G. Curtin, the venerable war governor of this state, who has been unable to attend the encampment owing to serious illness.

A proposition that members of the Sons of Veterans be admitted to post meetings was ruled out of consideration on the ground that it involved a change in the constitution, and that the usual thirty days' notice had not been given to the delegates.

Nearly two hours were occupied in an animated debate on a report from the committee upon a series of resolutions submitted by Phil Kearney Post, No. 10, of Richmond, Va., which set forth that certain published statements made by Commander J. A. Watrous, of the department of Wisconsin, to the effect that the post in question had collected moneys for the decoration of graves in southern cemeteries and improperly applied them to the erection of a hall were untrue in substance and in fact, asking that this denial be printed in the records of the encampment and a committee be appointed by the commander-in-chief to investigate the truth of the charges.

Col. Watrous took the floor in his wn behalf, and declared that he was fully justified in making the statements that had been called in ques-

Edgar Allen, of Richmond, Va., made an earnest speech in behalf of the post, asserting that its acts had been strictly honorable and legitimate, and produced proof that the post had secured a plot of ground upon which it pro-posed to erect a grand army hall.

It was finally decided to instruct the commander-in-chief to appoint a committee of three to investigate the matter, its report to be final, and to be scoepted by both sides.

A resolution approving and com-sending the celebration of Washington's birthday by posts of the order in connection with the public schools, as naugurated by the commander-in-hief in Lynn, Mass., was adopted. Concerning the proposed monument which are due to recent storms, re Washington to the memory of Gen. the river Goomty out of its banks.

Grant, the committee reported that the statue and pedestal had been finished and stored pending action by the joint congressional committee regarding a date for the final installation cere-

A proposition to change the rules so that each encampment should select one member of the council of administration to serve five years, instead of five members elected annually for a single term was defeated.

Representatives of the Big Four, Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton and Pennsylvania railroads appeared before the encampment and pledged a rate of one cent a mile for the gathering of next year.

Commander-in-Chief Lawler issued night:

Having been elected and installed as ommander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic for the ensuing year, I hereby assume command, with a profound appreciation of the responsibilities of the office.

Comrade C. C. Jones, of Rockford, Ill., is hereby appointed adjutant general, and Comrade J. W. Burst, of Sycamore, Ill., quartermaster general, and they will be obeyed accordingly. Headquarters are hereby established at Rockford, Ill. All official commu-nications should be addressed to the Annual Election of Officers-Mrs. John A. Logan-Teaching Patriotism in Schools. Piттsвurgн, Pa., Sept. 14.—At yesterday afternoon's session of the Woming his only opponent, Col. Ivan N. an's Relief corps, Mrs. Emma Wallace, of Chicago, was elected national presimajority of eleven in a total vote of dent, and Mrs. Helen F. Morrison, of Smithport, Pa., senior vice-president. Junior Vice-Lizzie R. Herrick, of Seattle, Wash.

In the contest for treasurer, Mrs. A. A. Cheney, of Detroit, Mich., was elected, and Agnes S. Parker, of Maryland, was unanimously elected chaplain. The executive board will be elected this morning.

The presentation of Mrs. John A. Logan was the signal for an enthusiastic demonstration, and in response the widow of the late general made a brief appreciative address.
A resolution was adopted urging the teaching of patriotism in the schools in the United States, and placing of a flag on every school house and in every school room in the land. A committee on patriotic teaching was added to the standing committees. Ladies of the Grand Army of the Repub-

Reports presented to the convention of the ladies of the G. A. R. show that ts present membership is over 10,000, and there is a balance on hand in the treasury of $15,000. The amount expended in relief during the past year was nearly $17,000, while donations to the amount of $2,000 additional were made to soldiers' and widows' homes.

DAUGHTERS OF VETERANS.

Mrs. Ellen M. Walker, of Worcester, Mass. Chosen President.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 14.-The National Alliance of Daughters of Veterans yesterday afternoon selected the following officers: President, Mrs. Ellen M. Walker, Vorcester, Mass.; senior vice-presilent, Miss Anna Schmid, St. Louis; junior vice-president, Miss Gladys Foster, Kansas; chaplain, Mrs. Levo Stevens, Massillon, O.; treasurer, Ida J. Allen, Newton-Mrs. ville, Mass.; inspector, Miss Addie Yorke, Summerville, Mass.; installing officer, Miss Anna Roberts, Connells

The trustees are: Anna Moore, New York; Minnie Trescott, Ohio; Nellie King, Ohio; Cora Pike, Massachusetts; and R. Ellevyn Monroe, of Massachusetts.

Lizzie Kimball, daughter of Gen. Kimball, of Massachusetts, was appointed secretary for the ensuing year. and Celia Perry, of Pennsylvania, guard; the other members of the staif -the inner gua rd, musician and financial secretary-will be chosen by the

The convention decided on the colors of the alliance with orange the color for the national badge, red for the state badge and blue the tent badge.

COMMANDER LAWLER.

He is a Native of England and a Citizen of Rockford, Ill.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—Thomas G. Lawer, who was elected commander-inchief of the G. A. R., is a citizen of Rockford, Ill., where he is in the lumber and coal business. He was born in Liverpool, England, a little over fifty years ago, and was brought to this country when he was 10 years old. At 17 he enlisted in the United States army. He was connected with the Illinois national guards for twelve years and rose to the rank of colonel. In 1877 he was appointed postmaster at Rockford by President Hayes. He retired from office during Cleveland's first term, but was reappointed by President Harrison. He is now serving his twenty-sixth year as commander of Nevins Post No. 1 of Rockford. He was senior vice-commander of the department of Illinois from 1874 to 1876 and was commander of the department in

MICHIGAN BAMId. Th

Meet in Convention at B afternoof by Comptroi the most BAY CITY, Mich., Sept. 13.-The Michigan State Bankers' association convertion was called to order at 10ta. m. After some routine business was disposed of Hon. James H. Eckels, comptroller of the currency, was introduced and addressed the convention.

At the conclusion of the address a resolution was adopted tendering the thanks of the convention to Hon. James H. Eckels, comptroller of the currency, and State Superintendent of Banks T. C. Sherwood, for their wise action during the financial panic of 1893. By their conservative consideration of instituions under their care they rendered valuable service to the country at large.

Steam Barge Ashore. ALPENA, Mich., Sept. 13.—The steam barge Enterprise, of St. Catherines, Ont., went ashore in Wednesday night's gale at North Point. The tug Ralph took the life boat in tow this morning and succeeded in taking off the crew safely. The Enterprise lies in a badlyexposed position on the reef, and may go to pieces in the heavy southeast gale which is blowing.

Floods in ludis. CALCUTTA, Sept. 13.—The country around the city of Lucknow and a portion of that city is submerged. Floods which are due to recent storms, raised AGSTLE IN MEADR.
Blunth Steplets. many years ago.

polite and attentive to Uncle Silas, and especially in the evenings, when Uncle John went out for his solitary walk. She had begun to pride herself upon the impression she was making, when one night he suddenly inquired:

workbag?" "No, that was Nellie," she stamnered, while she vainly tried to recall like the pros-pect one bit bet-But whatever Uncle Silas had overter than I do, neard, he evidently was not angry, for only I'm honest nough to say what I think; and one with, I'm sure!" sisted. "Living here practically on Uncle John's charity, don't you think we had better leave him entirely out of the question?" asked Nellie.

"Even when he goes about spying and criticising everything we do? And worries old Susan's life almost out, looking into the soup pot and adding more water for fear it won't go 'round?" In spite of herself Nellie laughed old man is hard enough to get along

"It's no laughing matter," her sister declared. "Besides, if Uncle John isn't glad to see his own brother, I don't see why we should pretend to be." "But I'm not going to pretend at

"Gertrude! Helen!-one of you com down!" cried a gruff voice from below. And Nellie, obeying the summons, found Uncle John in the dim sittingroom with his newly-arrived and evidently unwelcome guess. Left alone, Gertie still pondered over the unexpected letter which that morning had announced to Uncle John the almost immediate arrival of the brother he had not seen for a quarter of a century, and the orders which old Susan had thereupon received to practice various extra economies which might tend to shorten the stay of the unwished-for visitor. So supper that night proved an even more frugal and unsocial meal than usual. Uncle John preserved his customary grim silence; the two girls were always overawed and quiet in his presence, while the newcomer seemed occupied in examining his surroundings.

"Well, brother," he remarked, at last, "though some things seem to point to the contrary, I am inclined to believe that you have prospered during these last five-and-twenty years?"

"You certainly have not prospered, to judge from appearances," were quite "But you can't always judge from appearances," was the newcomer's cool His retort apparently missed its ef-feet upon all but Gertie, and she began to wonder if this shabby stranger might not possibly prove a kind of fairy godfather in disguise. But the next afternoon she burst suddenly into the room where her sister was deep in her book. "Well, what do you suppose he wants me to do?" she cried. "Look at this wretched old coat, with pockets torn out, and the facing in ribbons; well, this fine new uncle has coolly requested me to mend it for him! Did you ever hear of such a thing? Why don't he take it to a tailor? It's all in rags-and I'm not going to do it!"

Nellie took the dilapidated garment. while a slight wrinkle appeared on her usually smooth young brow. It quickly vanished, however, and she reached for her workbox.

"You aren't going to do it? I wouldn't touch it!" Gertie declared. "I'd rather mend it than have him wear it as it is; I hate to see ragged old men!" said Nellie. "But he'll bring you his old shoes next and ask you to patch them-"

"His boots would be a step beyond me," laughed Nellie, "but this is easy enough, and it won't take long. Now, if ever I have the management of a boy I'll bring him up to sew and to keep his own clothes in apple-pie order. He shall have a thimble and seissors and well-stocked workbag, and he shall learn to handle a needle as well as a jacknkife. Why! here's something slipped down between the lining and the outside, Gertie-a fivedollar gold piece! I'm glad Uncle Sam brought it to you, after all, else he might never have seen his money again!" Nellie's fingers flew rapidly, and it was not long before she exclaimed: "There! it's finished now, as well as I can do it. You'd better take it right back to him, and the gold piece, too," Gertie disappeared, but in a moment she returned with a flushed face, and, dropping the gold piece into Nellie's lap, she stammered: "He-he told me to keep it for mending the coat, and I-I hadn't courage to tell him I didn't do it; so it's yours -for I sha'n't take it. And Nellie, in spite of his looking so shabby, I believe he's awfully rich, and he's come here this way just to find out what we're like, and what we need. I wish he'd adopt us and take us away from here; he's a great deal nicer than Uncle John!"

"O, Gertie!" cried Nellie, indignant-"No, you must keep it, for he gave But if he's ever so rich, I'd be ashamed to talk so when Uncle John has been so kind. What would we have done when mother died if he had not been willing to give us a home? And didn't he promise to take care of us at school until we were old enough to teach and support ourselves? It's very ungrateful to say Uncle Silas is nicer, just because he has given you a bright gold piece!" Gertie was quite unmoved by her sister's indignation; but finding that Nellie utterly refused to share her sudden bright anticipations, she finally descended to the kitchen and took old Susan into her confidence, much to that good woman's astonishment.

"Law, Miss Gertie, 'tain't possible!" said Susan. "I've been in the fam'ly sence them men was byes, an' Mr. John was alwuz queer, an' clus, an' cumulative-but for all that, kind an' honest as the daylight! But that there Mr. Silas-alwuz wild an' shiftless, if nothin' wuss-he worritted your poor ranma mos' to death. An' from what see, 'tain't at all likely he's changed p'inted!"-Demorest's Magazine.

his ways. The plain statement rather shool the foundations of the air castle which Gertie had begun to build; but still, the part of premiere acted in a damask on thinking it over, she decided that dress, with boops six yards in circum-

"hadn't heard nothin' about Mr. Silas an' his ways" since he left his home to seek his fortune in South America, so

So Gertle took great pains to be very

"Are you the one with a theory about the boy and the needle and

BUT another old man! Now, Nell, you needn't preyou needn't preher own disparaging remarks about tend that you the listener on that memorable after-> he seemed to be enjoying her embarrassment. "But you mended my coat," he per

> "N-no, that was Nellie, too." "Ob, I begin to see. Nellie found the gold piece, and you spent it; I call > that a fair division of labor.' "I made her keep it," said Nellie, quickly coming to the rescue of her inhappy sister. "Gertie tried to give it to me, but there was nothing I happened to want, so I wouldn't take it." "Oh," said Uncle Silas, "then apparently Gertie did want something just at that moment?"

> "I'm always wanting something," murmured Gertie. "I do wish I was Uncle Silas actually chuckled over this reply; then, as Nellie became absorbed in her book again, he bent forward and laid his bony hand upon Gertie's arm.

"You're smart," he said, "and you'll be rich, too, one of those days, or I'll miss my guess."

Then he began to relate such marvelous stories of the wealth of South America that she was more than ever convinced he had not returned from there without a fortune.

Far from sharing Gertie's romantic belief, Nellie did not for a moment dream of the hold it had taken upon her sister's imagination. But already Gertie had began to throw out mysterious hints to her classmates about her uncle's wealth, and an exaggerated story of the gold piece was going the rounds of the school. She could not help mourning a little in secret, at the possibility of being separated from her sister: for it was evident that Uncle Silas was quite indifferent towards Nellie, and so it could hardly be expected that he would treat them both with equal favor. But at the A growl came from the grim figure to reveal his plans, and to enter the same time she was very eager for him at the head of the table, but the words: life of luxury he so often hinted of to

In the meantime Uncle Silas had found much of his apparel as dilapidated as the famous coat had been; and as if to punish Gertie for her one act of rebellion he brought her each garment in its turn, and one by one she meekly mended them, although she hated sewing. No other hidden gold piece ever rewarded her, but now Uncle Silas often slyly spoke of the "surprise" he had in preparation for

The girls at school were growing more and more curious, but hardly more impatient than Gertie herself Her eastle in the air had grown so real to her that never a morning came but she expected to see it realized before the night. Her only drend was lest some of her exaggerated stories should come to Nellie's honest ears too soon. Then came a day which Gertie never will forget-when it was found that Uncle Silas had gone, no one knew

His oldest, but now carefully mended clothes, had been left behind, with a card bearing the laconic inscription: "For my brother John:" and it afterwards appeared that he had been freely replenishing his wardrobe-at his frugal brother's expense. But this was not the worst; it soon came out that Uncle Silas had been trying to raise large sums of money in his brother's name, upon bogus South American securities; and it was his failure in this and fear of the consequences, which had led to his sudden and secret flight.

A package of the worthless securitles had been left 'for my charming but avaricious niece, as a suitable reward for her disinterested devotion." Uncle John was furious and vowed that the swindler should be prosecuted if ever he could be traced. But what became of Uncle Silas after his disappearance was never known; at all events they never heard of him again. Gertie's humiliation was complete; and she foresaw a bitter punishment for her folly in the merciless teasing of her companions, when they should learn of her air castle's utter and pitiful collapse. Nellie was honestly sorry for her sister, though she wondered how it had been possible for Gertie to indulge in such absurdly romantic hopes; and she heartly sympathized with Uncle John's discomfiture and indignation at the discovery of his brother's utter unworthiness But old Susan chuckled over the state of things for days. "Jest like Mr. Silas!" she said, "an' serves Mr. John right for trustin' him, when he knew-well as I do-that Mr. Silas was born a scamp, an' warn't likely to go ag'in' his natur'. But for Miss Gertie to be so taken in by his great yarns! She ain't much like her sister; seems as if Miss Nellie's got all the fam'ly common sense. often said, an' I say again: 'Blessed is them that didn't expect nothin'-for they ain't so likely to get disap-

-When Rousseau's "Pygmalion" was first produced, the lady who took old Susan might be wrong, and es- ference, and on her head an enormous pecially as she acknowledged that she puff with three large estrich feathers

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

-There is no other thing that you can get so much of for nothing as advice. -Ram's Horn.

-First Girl-"Don't you trust Jack; he's a gay deceiver." Second Girl-"Do you speak from experience?" -"Dempsey's horse shies at every silly thing he sees." She-"Doesn't it make you dreadfully nervous to go near him?"-Inter Ocean. -The boy Dickens had the experience described in "David Copperfield." The work was in many important par-Mculars a record of his own life. -A Fast Man by Profession.-"Isn't that Mr. Pensil a trifle fast?" "He ought to be. He's the best shorthand writer in this country."-Chicago Record.

-Head of the Firm-"Humph! Booke off again to-day? What's his excus this time? A lame one, I'll bet." Clerkem-"Yes, sir; broke his leg, sir."-Buffalo Courier.

-"Eve got one of the best janitors in my building that you ever saw." "Have you? In what way?" "Why, the other day he let me borrow some of my own coal from him."-Hallo.

-The Reformed Cannibal-"So you name is Goodpastor, is it? It may in terest you to know that I served your grandfather." Young Missionary-"In what way?" Reformed Cannibal-"Fricasseed."—Detroit Journal. -May-"Are you still calling on Nellie Update?" Brother Jack-"Yes; she's a very bright girl." May-"She must be: I hear you don't need a light in the parlor when you and she are there."—Philadelphia Record. -The man who was undecided whether to buy a steam launch or a sailing yacht has his mind all made up now. He has discovered that it take money to run a steam launch, while you can run a sailing yacht on wind .-Boston Globe. The hermit turned pale at the sound of human voice near his lonely abode. His heart chilled with foreboding as he listened. "Is my hat on straight? 'That everlasting woman question again," he snarled, and plunged yet deeper into the wilderness.-Detroit Tribune.

-Bessie was just finishing her breakfast as papa stooped to kiss her before going down town. The little one gravely took up her napkin and wiped her cheek. "What, Bessie!" said her father, "wiping away papa's kiss?" "O, no." she said, looking up with asweet smile, "I'se rubbing it in."-Sacred Heart Re-

-During the early conquests of the French in Algeria, the quick-tempered - thinking that one of his adutants had displayed want of skill in arrying out his orders, so far forgot himself as to strike him with his riding whip. The officer seized his pistol, ok alm at the general, and was about to fire, but the pistal would not go off. Then the general immediately called out: "Eight days' arrest for not keeping your weapons in order."-L'Amico dei Giovanetti.

-Lady (to janitor of Masonic temple)-"Here's a quarter, Pat, and will you show me the goat that I'm told the Freemasons keep here?" "Would I bees showing it?" asked Pat. "If you please," replied the lady; "I always lek some of these long, silky, auburn hairs off my husband's coat when he has been to the lodge meeting, and I thought I'd like to see such a queer animal." "Quare, mum?" said the shrewd Pat; "he is that, mum. The color o' an Irish setter.mum. But.shure. the baste is sick to-day."-N. Y. Recorder

EXPLOSION BY SYMPATHY. esponsive Effects of Vibrations Uni Harmonic Conditions

Musicians are well aware of the fact that if any note of the gamnt be clearly sounded or sung within vibration range of any suitable musical instrumentsay a harp or plano-that the string, whichever it may be, tuned to the same note, will begin to sound upon its own account, or "respond," as it is termed. If the singer then refrains from repeating the note he began with, but sings another one, the "speaking" string instantly relapses into silence, while another responds to the new note. In the same way an organ pipe will respond, as indeed will a vase, a hollow vessel with thin sides, or even an apartment, if the particular note to which they are respectively "tuned" be first

Now, it will be noticed by many that in constructing stores for the reception of explosives it is very much the fashion to build a series of exactly the same dimensions, and to place them, with almost mathematical accuracy, at equal distances apart. They are filled with explosives; one day an "accident" explodes their contents and everybody is surprised when, despite the next building being "much too far off," and with "intervening walls twelve feet thick." some or all the other stores blow up in due sequence. What other result could

All the buildings are identical in size and capacity; hence the "note" sounded in the first-whether it be one of triumph or of tragedy-finds immediate "response" in No. 2, when, reinforced by a second explosion, the next store cannot do otherwise than follow the example of the other two; and so the mischief spreads. It is important to bear in mind that we are now dealing with the influence of sympathetic musical vibrations only, not with the mechanical impulse of a detonic tremor or jar." For it is assumed in this case that the buildings are so far apart and otherwise "protected" that, if they are inharmonic, the material in one cannot be fired simply by detonating the contents of another adjacent thereto.

The foregoing proposition has its origin in some experiments with iodide of nitrogen and fulminate of mercury, in the course of which the writer found that small quantities of these sensitive explosives placed in "sounding boxes" of precisely the same dimensions could be exploded by the detonation of one of them at greater distances from the detonator than, coeteris paribus, was possible in the open, or when in boxes (of other shapes) not "relatively harmorfic" to the detonator box.-Nineteenth Century.

In Good Company.

There are subjects at which even the scoffer must not sneer if he still wishes to be considered well bred. No one may scout religion and still be known as a person of good taste. When old Monsieur de Montroud, a dissipated society man of the First Empire, was in his last illness, the Abbe Petitot was a frequent visitor at his bedside. One day, in the course of a serious conversation, the abbe said to him: "You have probably, during your long life, been very often tempted to speak lightly and to joke about religion?" "No," said the old wit, seriously, "I have always mixed in the best society."

THE U. S. Government Chemists have reported, after an examination of the different brands, that the ROYAL Baking Powder is absolutely pure, greatest in strength, and superior to all others.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER COMPANY, 106 WALL ST. NEW-YORK

-A caller had mentioned that a neighbor had been obliged to shoot his dog because it had grown old and cross. After he had gone little Edith, who had been very quiet since the dog had been spoken of, surprised her mother by asking. "Mamma, when do you think papa will shoot Aunt Sarah?"

Everybody Is Going South Now-a-Days.

The only section of the country where the The only section of the country where the farmers have made any money the past year is in the South. If you wish to change you should go down now and see for yourself The Louisville & Nashville Railread and connections will sell tickets to all points. South for trains of October 2. November 6 and December 4, at one fare round trip. Ask your ticket agent about it, and if he cannot sell you excursion tickets write to C. P. Atmore, General Passenger Agent, Louisville, Ky., or Louisville, Ky., or GEO, B. HORNER, D. P. A., St. Louis, Mo.

Young people who have courted in society go on bridal trips to see how they like each other. Cures That Faith Won't Effect

Are brought about by the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, foremost among American family remedies. Rheumatism, neurelgia, dyspepsia, liver complaint, malaria and nervous complaints succumb to this reliable remedy. It does its benign work thorough-ly, and those who use it reap a fruifful harvest of health. Physicians of the first standing commend it.

Hall's Catarrh Cure Is taken internally. Price 75c.

Quite naturally, it is the man of seasoned intellect and ripe experience who does not seem fresh.

Tun devil is always polite upon first ac-

THE	MARKE	TS.
,	NEW YORK.	Sept	17	1991	1
CATTLE-Native	Steers	4 40	a.	5 30	ı
COTTON-Middling FLOUR-Winter W	heat	2 40	6	3 15
WHEAT-No.2 Re CORN-No.2	6/1	1871	1.15	(C$19)
OATS-No. 2	*	31	0	35
OATS-No. 2. PORK-NewMess.	ST. LOUIS	15.50	ů,	16 00
COTTON-MIGHTON			198	6%
BLEVES-Shippin	w Steers	5 00	m,	6 00	ı
titles - Fair to Sele	oot.	5 90	600	0.40
SHEEP-FairtoC	holea	2 25	60	3 15
FLOUR-Patents	Extra do	2 10	65		1
WHEAT-No.2 Roo	Winter		.00	5/194
COUN-No. 2 Mixed OATS-No. 2		1000	0.00		13
RYE-No.2 TOBACCO-Lugs		4 50	100	10 00
Long H	Hriev.	8 00	m.	12.00	1
HAY-Clear Timot	hv.	8 10	60	11 50 21	6
The state of the s			62	1216
PORK-Standard M BACON-Clear Rib	Toss (new)	*	0	14 75
LARD-Prime Sten	HICAGO	81	.0	81,	1
CATTLE-Shippin	Z.	4 75	n.	5.90	1
CATTLE—Shippin HOGS—Fair to Cho SHEEP—Fair to Ch	oice	5 95	333	6 75
ELOTED Without D	THE CO. LEWIS CO., LANSING	2 50	159	0.19	10

LOUR-Winter Patents. | White Patents | Spring Patents | WHEAT-No. 2 Spring | No. 2 Red | CORN-No. 2 | OATS-No. 2 | PORK-Mess (hew) | 14 KANSAS CITY. CATTLE—Shipping Steers 4 28 28 4108.5—All Grades 5 15 28 WHEAT—No.2 Red 46 60 OATS—No. 2 20 64 CORN—No. 2 20 66

FLOUR—High Grade 2 50 CORN—No. 2 68 OATS—Western 37 HAY—Choice 15 90 PORIS—New Mess. LOUISVILLE

THE ONWARD MARCH

of Consumption is stopped short by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If you haven't waited beyond reason, there's complete recovery and cure. In those scrofulous conditions of the blood which invite Constant and American Constant Co Consumption; in severe, lingering Coughs, and Weak Lungs, this medicine is a proved

s medicine is a proved Mrs. Sarah S. Sneed, of Cio, Iredell Co., N. C., writes: "My daughter was first attacked with premmenta and pleusiey in very bad torus and was then taken with a very bad cough, which kept growing werse and werse, until finalby it seemed as though the had consumption very last. The physicians prescribed Cod liver cil, but to no benefit. I precured two bottles of Dr.
Pierce's Gelden Medical Discovery and she

MISS M. H. SNEED. grow better. She hasn't felt any return of lung discare in ever twelve months. She was nothing but a skeleton when she took the first doce, and to-day she weighs 135 pounds."

"Don't you," said the summer boarder, "sometimes envy the city people who come here with nothing to do but recuperate!" No." replied Farmer Corntossel, "I dunno's I do. I swing the scythe tell I git right tired an' 'magine it lorn tennis, an' set out on the front porch ter get bit by the mersquiters of evenin's, an' manage ter have 'bout ez good a time ez the rest of 'em'." Weshington Star em."-Washington Star. Home-Seekers' Excursions

On Sept. 11, Sept. 25 and Oct. 9 the Bur-lington Route will sell excursion tickets to all points in the Northwest, West and Southwest, at one fare for the round trip, plus $2.

As TO RELATIVES.—Little—"Have you any distant relatives?" Mutch—"No; mine are all near enough to visit me at a moment's notice."—Detroit Free Press.

A Dose in Time Saves Nine of Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar for Coughs, Pike's Toothache Drops Cure in one minute. "It's doubtless a love match; a real, gen-uine one." "How can you tell?" "He's given up cigarettes and she her cooking lessons."-Inter Ocean. "Garland" Stoves and Ranges are no higher in price than the worthless imitations. Ask to see them.

THE man who was "waiting for some thing to turn up," proposed to a sensible girl, and didn't like it a bit when she turned up her nose at him.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid levative principles embraced in the laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleas-ant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative: effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers permanently curing constipation It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance. Syrun of Fire is for sale by all drug gists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

The "LINENE" are the Best and Most Economical Collars and Cuffs worm, they are made of fine coth, both ides finished allies, and, being reversibly, one collar is equal to two of any other kind. liars or Five Pairs of Cuffs for Twenty-Five A Sample Collar and Pair of Cuffs by mail for Six Cents. Name style and size. Address

REVERSIBLE COLLAR COMPANY.
T Franklin St. New York. T Kilby St., Boston $40 buys "KNIGHT" Pneumatic 3licycle, 28-inch, Ball, Diamond, TILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE FREE, ENIGHT CYCLE CO., 801 N. 14th Street, St. Louis, Mo.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS PLEASE

SHE KNOWS WHATS WHAT

THE N.K. FAIRBANK COMPANY, ST. LOUIS, THE POT INSULTED THE KETTLE BECAUSE

SOLD EVERYWHERE

THE COOK HAD NOT USED SAPOLIO

GOOD COOKING DEMANDS CLEANLY SAPOLIO SHOULD BE USED IN EVERY KIT